Lee is the manager of the ICT team at Moores.

Many would argue that managing Information and Communications Technology in a legal practice is fraught. Lee disagrees. He thinks that lawyers are open-minded, creative spirits, committed to risk-taking and collaboration.

Lee is not only a highly skilled and dedicated IT professional with more than 20 years' experience in the IT industry, but he also combines strong leadership and management skills with a focus on mentoring and encouraging personal growth. A winning formula.

Lee has significant experience in developing and implementing IT strategies closely aligned to business and user needs. He is solution orientated with demonstrated success in balancing business-as-usual operations with strategic initiatives to help drive the efficiency and effectiveness of the business and its stakeholders.

Lee's ability to engage with and build relationships with all levels of the business makes him an invaluable team member at Moores.
